CIRCUIT COURT

Proceedings--Has Been in Session for the Past Ten Days--Judge Young Presiding.

Lloyd Willoughby, who shot and killed William York at Jeffersonville, this county, on election day in November, was tried Saturday in the Circuit Court and found guilty of voluntary manslaughter. He will be sentenced under the indeterminate law by Judge Young.

George Goddard, who trained horses here last year for Thomas Fitzpatrick, was given a verdict of $500 damages against the Citizens Guarantee & Trust Company, of West Virginia, for assault and battery. The company was on the bond of former Policeman Howard Anderson, who had arrested Goddard and struck him. Goddard was tried and acquitted and then brought suit against Anderson's bond for damages and secured the above verdict.

James Cartmell, convicted of stealing cattle, will be sentenced under the indeterminate law. Cartmell was charged with stealing cattle in Bath county and selling them in this county.

The time of the court is now being occupied by the trial of Millard and Charlie Martin, charged with the killing of Hill Willoughby.

The Grand Jury will convene again Thursday.

Ruben Durham was convicted on the charge of housebreaking, and given an indeterminate sentence.

Lydia Reffitt, charged with malicious cutting and wounding was found not guilty.

Talk Eighteen.

Can you imagine anything that ought to be more safe and secure than a policy of insurance on your life? Can you imagine any way in which your fellow man can be so cruel and merciless as in deceiving you by concealed technicalities to be taken advantage of when you are not alive to enter protest?

Hoffman doesn't suggest that you dwell seriously upon this subject because he wants to provoke ill feeling on your part toward the policy you may be carrying, or because he wishes to brand companies rival with his as dealing dishonorably. He simply wants to show you Life Insurance which is a "clean bill" from start to finish--the best and most secure and most desirable form to be had in the world!

Talk about having confidence. Possibly you don't know Hoffman at all. Then why should you have any more confidence in him than you have in anybody else? You shouldn't. But you WILL after you go over the subject with him. Your sense and sagacity will create it. Those are what you rely upon in everything you do in life.

Noted Baptist Divine Dead.

The Rev. William Heth Whitsett, D. D., one of the most noted clergymen and scholars in the Southern Baptist Church, died at his home at Richmond, Va., last week in the seventieth year of his age. He leaves a widow, one son, W. R. Whitsett, of Baltimore, and one daughter, Mrs. Howard G. Whitehead, of Richmond, Va. Dr. Whitsett was a native of Tennessee and a Confederate cavalryman under Gen. Forrest. After the war he filled many prominent pulpits and later became a professor in the Southern Theological Seminary at Louisville and then president of that institution.

In this position he wrote a paper on baptism by immersion which gave rise to a controversy that resulted in Dr. Whitsett resigning the presidency of the seminary. He then became a professor in Richmond College, a Baptist institution, a position he held until last spring.

Last spring Dr. Whitsett being feeble and advanced in years, retired from the college.

JUDSON HARMON, OF OHIO, FOR PRESIDENT

THE INDETERMINATE SENTENCE LAW.

With the present Indeterminate Sentence Law was passed by the Legislature, under the mistaken idea of reform, we expressed doubt about its being sound in actual practice and the more we see of it, the former becomes our belief that it is but a theory that cannot stand severe test.

We are not unmindful of the fact that many errors occurred under the former plan of letting the jury fix the punishment, but on the whole, no better idea can be suggested than to give this right to the jury, who see the witnesses near their testimony and are acquainted with the credibility of them.

The present law is so manifestly unjust we hope and believe the next Legislature will promptly repeal it. To illustrate, suppose a man tried for homicide has many points in his favor and while guilty of manslaughter, should be given the minimum sentence of two years, while another man has an aggravated case and should be given the maximum sentence of twenty-one years. Under the present law both are sent for the same term, from two to twenty-one years. If the behavior of both is good they will be released on the same day. The Prison Commissioners bear none of the evidence, but are guided solely by the prisoner's record as proof. That both prisoners are entitled to a parole, after serving the minimum sentence, we quote from the case of Wilson vs. Commonwealth, 131 Ky. 341, wherein the Court of Appeals says:

"When this act was passed that no person shall be eligible to parole except on certain conditions, it necessarily means that those who comply with the conditions shall be eligible to parole. The act, therefore, defines who shall be paroled and does not commit to the Commissioner's arbitrary power, but imposes on them the duty to parole the prisoners whom the act declares eligible to parole and this duty the board of Prison Commissioners may be required in a proper state of case to perform."

THE DEMOCRATIC PROGRAMME.

Baltimore News: In declaring in the beginning the purpose to reform the House in accordance with the sentiment of the country the Democracy is merely obeying a popular mandate.

Baltimore Sun: If indications and caucus pledges mean anything the next Congress will be controlled by an unusual harmonious majority, and a majority that knows exactly what is wanted and what is can and will do.

Columbia, S. C.: State: However, this newly formed Ways and Means Committee is going to take the earliest opportunity of redeeming the pledge of the party at Denver by putting lumber and wood duly on the free list.

Brooklyn Eagle: The new plan may not work out well. Champ Clark has said nothing that would prevent him from favoring a change. He has merely promised to be absolutely fair as Speaker, and no one doubts that he will keep his word.

New York Tribune: It will take some time, of course, for the House of Representatives to accustom itself to self-rule after having long set up one of its agents as a political dictator. Throwing away the crutch and walking erect may prove awkward at first. But the experiment is under way and cannot be interrupted.

New York World: The new system adopted by the Democrats of making committee assignments through the Committee on Ways and Means acting as a Committee on Committees is an interesting experiment. The Speaker is relieved of one of his most difficult and dangerous duties, in the performance of which the power of administering rewards and punishments has frequently been abused, and to that extent the change should contribute to party harmony.

Chicago Inter Ocean: The Democratic members of the Sixty-second House, with only eight absent out of 227, more than ten months in advance of the time when they are at all likely to be called upon for any legislative work, have agreed upon their leaders and upon lines of general policy. Furthermore, these Democrats seem to be approaching their task not only harmoniously, but with few signs of rattle-pate enthusiasm, and even with a sober sense of patriotic responsibility.

Dope Found.

Customs inspectors searching the Asiatic liner Korea found some loose panels in the wall of an unoccupied stateroom. Removing the boards they came upon a cache of contraband of opium. Forty-two tins of five tael measure were there. The drug was ready for smoking and would have brought some $1,600 in the Chinese underground market. The opium was seized and will be destroyed.

The Danger

The bill for the election of United States Senators by direct vote is said to be in grave danger of defeat. The opposition is said to have planned to tack on a force bill amendment in hope that the Democratic Senators will vote against the measure when it comes up for passage.

Sand to Time Speakers.

A new piece of apparatus has appeared on the desk of speaker Cannon. It is a double-barreled hour-glass designed to help members in obeying the most trying of all rules of limiting debate to five minutes.

The glass is timed to run the sand through in five minutes. A white back-ground makes the sand in the glass visible from a considerable distance.

Under the five minutes rule of debate members often reach the most important part of their arguments when the chairman's gravel mercilessly cuts them down. The new apparatus is intended to give due warning in time to avoid the five minute gun.

The Pistol-Carrying Habit.

In an Eastern Kentucky county a few days ago a youth of 19 or 20 years went off in the back yard to split some kindling. While engaged in that peaceful and reasonable and safe occupation he lost his life. A pistol dropped out of his coat pocket and was discharged the bullet entering his heart.

Pistol carrying is a risky business. If the carrier does not shoot anyone else he is liable to shoot himself and in either event there is an unnecessary waste of human life. If no pistols were carried in Kentucky there would be a rapid decline in the number of shootings, accidental and otherwise. About the worst possible use that can be made of a gun is to kill him and fewer men would be killed if the ever-ready pistol did not so continuously repose in the convenient pocket. There are not many occasions when killing is absolutely necessary, though many slayers escape punishment on the plea of self-defense.

In the mountains as well as in other parts of Kentucky there is a large element of our population which believes it necessary to "tote" a weapon on all occasions. Whether they are going to a horse race or a foot race; a wedding, or a wood-chopping; a dance or a funeral, there are hundreds of Kentuckians who feel it incumbent to carry along a revolver. The young mountain man has become so attached to his trusty weapon, it appears, that he could not detach himself from it, pending a little exercise with an ax in the way of transforming big sticks into little ones. Surely he needed no pistol while engaged in the prosaic performance of splitting kindling, but he had educated himself into the bad habit of carrying a "gun" on all occasions and he paid the penalty.

Every man who makes a practice of "toting" a pistol is courtly trouble and taking chances. There is not much excuse for the habit in its enlightened age. If a private citizen must needs arm himself why not carry a big stick? It would be a more trustworthy agent of self-defense than a pistol and it might be carried with infinitely less danger to the carrier.—Courier Journal.

New Kentucky Horse Show Society Planned.

Two friendly suits, the one against the Kentucky Horse Show Society, developed the information that the society is preparing to dissolve in favor of another corporation which will be largely a reorganization of the old society. The suits were filed by Lawrence Jones for $5,000 and by M. L. Akers for $1,500 for money advanced to the society at various times in the past. The suits were not filed to recover the amounts advanced but to facilitate the reorganization of the society for similar purposes. Both Mr. Jones and Mr. Akers will again take leading parts in the new organization.

A suit was filed recently against the society by Powhatan Woolridge for $500 for money advanced.

The new corporation hope to make the horse shows more popular, and if possible to make each horse show pay its own expenses.

Last fall's show came nearer paying expenses than any for a great many seasons and only about $1,000 was lost.

In answer to the suits filed by Messrs. Jones and Akers, Attorney Charles G. Middleton, for the defendant, admits the claim and consents to judgment.

A Large Boulder Fell In Front of a Passenger Train Going at Fifty Miles an Hour.

AND IT WAS ALMOST MIRACULOUS THAT EVERYONE OF THE PASSENGERS WERE NOT CRUSHED TO DEATH.

When you read such startling headlines in the daily papers, did you ever stop to think how many lives are being crushed out daily by stones in the bladder of hundreds of human beings, because no remedy was ever known to medical science that would remove them until bloodline was discovered; and since bloodline has been found to be a specific for this terrible affliction, it has had the most phenomenal sale throughout the East and West, of any remedy ever known. Thousands of bottles having been sold in a single day in many of the large cities.

The Boys of the Lone Star State Had Better Watch 'em.

Maids from New York to Portland, Ore., and from Chicago to Kansas City and St. Louis, are begging for Texas cowboys for husbands says a San Antonio dispatch to the Philadelphia Enquirer.

The mail of Gov. Campbell, of Austin, and of Postmaster Stevens of San Antonio, is growing heavier daily with applications, many accompanied by photographs from women of all ages, who want to live on the plains in care-free and healthy life, away from the conventionalities and superficialities of the great cities." So great has become this flood of requests that several Texas cities have begun to sit up and take notice.

The Bandit Chamber of Commerce offers to furnish rice, free of charge, to shower Texas brides: a Justice of the peace in Van Zandt county offers to perform the marriage ceremony free of charge to couples settling in that county. The Texas Commercial Secretaries' Association has prepared data proving conclusively that a married couple in Texas can live cheaper than a single person, and someone has joyfully said that now Cupid should have smooth sailing in the Lone Star State if someone will furnish the wedding rainment. By correspondence with the San Antonio postmaster, or the Governor of the State, any bachelors in Texas can probably find their affinities easily.

There are photographs by the hundreds, and both offices resemble matrimonial bureaus. In one day's mail there are letters from Maine, Rhode Island, Connecticut, Iowa, Illinois, Pennsylvania, New York, New Jersey, Massachusetts and Ohio. One young woman declares that "the men of Philadelphia are too fast and I want to marry a genuine man, one not vitiated by the life of this terrible city." Another wants a cowboy husband, and says she is a "natural blonde, with a loving disposition, a jolly girl of 27." Another desires "a real Texas man, at least six feet tall, weighing 200 pounds, with regular features and smooth-shaven face, who does not smoke or chew tobacco."

One young woman from Boston writes in heavy cream-colored paper to the Governor, saying:

"You may think this is an act of a foolish girl, but if you knew how few the chances are for a girl in New England to marry the man with whom her heart tells her she would be happy—in other words, if you could realize the deplorable lack here of real manhood still single—you would understand the reason. The man of my choice need not be too well educated, but he must be a man, ready to do and dare at all times, this daring to be based on good judgment. He must have lived always in the open, and be able to appreciate the passages I would read him from Robert Louis Stevenson. He must be young, and a man who can laugh on the blizzard, gray and chilly days when rounding up his cattle, as well as in the soft Southern moonlight, when the Gulf breezes make to nod the roses of romance."

A Truck Growing Syndicate.

Tennessee capitalists have taken option on more than 1,000 acres of land, near Hickman, Ky., at a price ranging from $125 to $140 an acre. Their ultimate intention, it is said, is to engage in a truck growing enterprise.

The plan according to Hickman Courier, is to divide the greater part of the land into five-acre tracts and to build a house on every tract. It is contemplated to have at least 160 of these five-acre farms, with a family on every farm. Vegetables and small fruits are to be grown for shipment. The location is a favorable one, as Hickman has good railroad facilities and is on the Mississippi River. The soil is well adapted to the culture of vegetables and fruits, and if an enterprise of any kind can succeed anywhere it should be able to do so at Hickman. Whatever may be the outcome, it is a "back to the soil" movement which should be encouraged. The division of large farms into small ones will bring an increased population and a corresponding increase in the productiveness of the land.

The combination plan has been applied to about all the industries of the country and it will not be surprising to hear of the organization of many farming and truck-raising syndicates in the future.

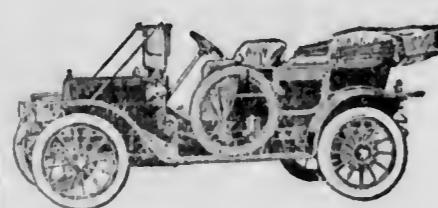

The growing disposition of farmers to pool the products of their farms is a step in the direction of the farming syndicate. As the first recorded movement of the kind in Kentucky and the truck-growing project in Fulton county will be watched with interest.

It this proves a good paying business near Hickman, why wouldn't it, in Montgomery, Co? It is worth a second thought.

Some men's idea of bravery is doing something their wives have told them not to.—Detroit Free Press.

Mrs. Cassidy's Will.

The will of Mrs. M. E. Cassidy was probated in the County Court here. Mrs. Cassidy names her son-in-law, M. T. McEldowney, as executor, and gives him the power to sell and convey any property she may leave.

Mrs. Cassidy bequeaths to the Christian Church of this city, of which she was a member, the sum of $300 to be used toward paying the expenses of the church. She then divides her property into four equal parts and leaves one-fourth to her daughter, Mrs. Nancy McEldowney; one-fourth to her daughter, Mrs. Mary Buckner, of Owensboro; one-fourth to Mrs. Cora Trimble, another daughter, during life, then to revert to heirs, and the remaining one-fourth is left to her grand-daughter, Mrs. Mary Tibbs Clark, of Martinsville, Ind. This fourth is left in trust, and the Trustee, M. T. McEldowney, is given the right to invest the property and use it for the maintenance and support of the said grand-daughter. If she dies without heirs it is then to revert to the other heirs. The estate is worth probably $50,000.

While standing on a salt barrel in his store, corner of Locust and Queen streets, placing some oysters in the top of a refrigerator, Joseph Botts, grocer, fell to the floor. When he was examined by Dr. Spratt it was discovered that his left leg was broken and badly twisted. The wound was dressed and Mr. Botts moved to his home, and he is now resting well.

Days That are Gone.

Alack and alas! How the mighty have fallen! There was a time in the sweet remembered past when the man with a pass on the railroad was considered a little better than his kind and looked up to with admiration. Those good old days seem to have gone forever. Railroads are prohibited from giving passes to interstate passengers, and it is like pulling the teeth to extract one from a company to be used entirely within the state. The law-makers and the cruel corporations are responsible for these conditions, which grow worse all the time.

A New York railroad has added humiliation to cruelty by providing on the pass it issues that on a crowded train the holder can only have a seat if he finds a vacant one, and he must relinquish that when a paid passenger can find no other. Truly indeed have those who were wont to disport themselves on passes fallen on evil days. Under the conditions provided by the New York road, the pass-holder instead of being regarded as a man of parts is really to be pitied. He has no rights except those that other passengers permit him to have. Sad, sad indeed, is cruel fate.—Lexington Herald.
